

BIO - STATEMENTS

Lucile Boiron, born in 1990, lives and works in Paris. Her photographs and installations bring us face-to-face with the painful intimacy of living decay. From bodily fragments to indeterminate still lifes, she isolates her subjects with surgical precision. The skin frees itself from its traditional functions to mutate into a place of passage and multiple transfigurations, building bridges between different materialities where the interior of things blends with the physical world around them. His work was exhibited at the Emerige Revelations in 2021, and more recently at the 16th Lyon Biennial in 2022.
